

Code	①	②	③	④	N
Reading	Your child is just beginning to develop English reading skills. Give your child a place to read at home.	Your child has developed some basic English reading skills. Encourage your child to read at home.	Your child has good English reading skills. Encourage your child to read at home and to read books from the library.	Your child has excellent English reading skills. Encourage your child to read at home and to read books from the library.	Your child did not receive a score for the reading test. Please talk to your child's teacher about how your child can continue to improve English vocabulary knowledge and reading skills.
Listening	Your child is just beginning to understand when others speak English. Encourage your child to spend time with people who speak English.	Your child has some basic understanding when others speak English. Encourage your child to spend time with people who speak English.	Your child has good understanding when others speak English. Have your child listen to the news on English radio or TV stations and to tell you what he or she heard.	Your child has excellent understanding when others speak English. Encourage your child to listen to the news on English radio or TV stations and tell you what he or she heard.	Your child did not receive a score for the listening test. Please talk to your child's teacher about how your child can continue to improve English vocabulary knowledge and listening skills.
Speaking	Your child is just beginning to speak English. Encourage your child to speak English with friends at school.	Your child can communicate some basic ideas when speaking English. Encourage your child to speak English with friends at school.	Your child can communicate in some important ideas when speaking English. Encourage your child to use English when talking about school subjects.	Your child can communicate many important ideas when speaking English. Encourage your child to use English when talking about school subjects.	Your child did not receive a score for the speaking test. Please talk to your child's teacher about how your child can continue to improve English vocabulary and spoken language skills.
Writing	Your child is just beginning to write in English. Encourage your child to practice writing in English at school.	Your child can write about basic ideas when writing in English. Encourage your child to practice writing in English at school.	Your child can write about some important ideas when writing in English. Encourage your child to use new English words when writing at school.	Your child can write about many important ideas when writing in English. Encourage your child to write everyday and to use English vocabulary from school subjects.	Your child did not receive a score for the writing test. Please talk to your child's teacher about how your child can improve English vocabulary knowledge and written language skills.